Stock Management System: User Guide

This guide covers the daily workspace: signing in, moving between sections, changing inventory, searching, and keeping access under control.

Sign in

- Open the portal and enter the username and password issued to you. Credentials are personal; do not share them.
- Sign out from the account menu when you finish, especially on a shared or public device.
- If several attempts fail, wait before trying again. Repeated failures are throttled and recorded.

Find your way around

- The sidebar lists the workspace on desktop; the bottom bar carries the same destinations on mobile.
- Workspace covers Overview, Inventory, Movements, and Suppliers.
- Masters groups Centre Master, Item Master, and Document Master.

Work with inventory

- Search by product, SKU, or supplier, then filter by category, supplier, or stock status.
- Open a product to receive stock, remove stock, or set a physical count. Each action asks for a quantity and optional reference.
- Every change writes a movement entry and an audit record. Stock cannot be edited silently.

Quick find

- Press Ctrl+K (Cmd+K on macOS) or / to open quick find from anywhere in the workspace.
- Type a product, SKU, or supplier, choose a result with the arrow keys, and press Enter to open it.

Access and read-only areas

- Your role determines which actions are available. If a control is not offered for your account, the action is also rejected by the application.
- Centre Master, Item Master, and Document Master are read-only reference views.
- Reference PDFs open in a new tab. Close the tab when you are finished.
